BruHaha team leaves audience in stitches

Local stand-up comedians from BruHaha Comedy Brunei took to the stage for their biggest show to date at a sold-out venue, bringing laughter to the 700-member audience.

The Friday night event at Peak Performance Sdn Bhd (PPSB) featured seven performers for another special edition dubbed The BruHaha Headliners Show.

The troupe dished out a string of hilarious skits in a three-hour long show, touching on relatable subjects such as relationships, travelling, magic tricks and funny puns.

Host for the night, Kevin Cheong, worked his charm to warm up the crowd before introducing other comics, starting with newcomer

Malik followed by Del Goh, Nadzri Harif, Tibby Ibrahim, Aiman and Najib Jaafri.

According to first-timer audience member Nicky, the performances were "hilarious," leaving many with "face cramps" from laughing so hard.

Meanwhile, another audience member, Hairi Tahir, said, "I loved it and can't wait to watch the next one."

After the show, Kevin told the Bulletin that BruHaha has built a good base over the last two headliner shows, but last Friday night's audience turnout definitely "exceeded our expectations."

The comedy troupe will host a finale show to wrap up the year at Jerudong International School (JIS) on December 7, to mark five years since BruHaha was established.

who realised the lack of stand-up comedy in Brunei after returning from Singapore.

The first show was held for a private audience at an office space, with only 50 people attending. It was well received. Since then, the numbers have grown.

JA Asia Pacific, the Regional Operating Centre of JA Worldwide, is the organiser of the competition in the Asia Pacific region. At this event, JA student companies will present the results of their enterprise and learning experience, appearing before a panel of judges who will determine their performance.

The event is not only a business competition for young people, but a goal to balance the business achievements of each student company as a whole with the personal development of each individual member within the student company. For a company to win the award, JA student company members must also demonstrate that they understand how and why the company performed as it did, aside from being financially successful and having created an exciting product or service.

Baiduri Bank Berhad is the main sponsor for the JA Company programme and JA Student Company of the Year Competition. The JA Company programme teaches upper secondary students how to start businesses that create jobs and prepare them to succeed in a global economy, and complements existing curriculums such as

China's economy struggles as consumers tighten belts

BEIJING (AP) - With home sales crashing, real estate agent Zhang Yonggang is tightening his belt, part of a plunge in Chinese consumer demand that is a bigger threat to economic growth than Beijing's tariff war with Washington.

Zhang, who works in the central city of Taiyuan, said his office sold no apartments last month after Beijing tightened lending controls in July to rein in housing costs and debt. Zhang, 42 and married with a teenage son, said his income has fallen by half from a year ago.

"I have no money to buy a home and no plans to change cars," Zhang said. "It is definitely the toughest time I've ever seen."

Leaders are counting on consumers to power China's economy, replacing trade and investment. But shoppers, spooked by the tariff war and possible job losses, are cutting spending on cars, real estate and other big-ticket purchases.

Economic growth sank to a three-decade low of six per cent over a year earlier in the quarter ending in September. That is stronger than most major countries but a strain for Chinese companies that need to repay debt.

Factory activity shrank more than expected in October, according to an official trade group, the China Federation of Logistics & Purchasing. Analysts said that suggested an uptick a month earlier didn't mark the start of a recovery. Leaders express confidence China can survive United States (US) President Donald Trump's tariff hikes on its exports.

On Thursday, the ruling party's Central Committee affirmed support for private business within an economy dominated by state industry and gave no sign of plans to change economic strategy.

But leaders openly fret over slumping consumer spending and other domestic activity.

Premier Li Keqiang, the top economic official, told local leaders last week to fight "downward pressure" on the economy and "make sure targets for this year are achieved".

"Many real economic entities are struggling amid weak domestic demand," the premier said at a meeting with provincial governors, according to a Cabinet statement.

Beijing has tried to stick to plans to nurture self-sustaining, consumer-driven growth instead of resorting to stimulus, which usually means splurging on construction paid for with bank loans. That might re-ignite a surge in debt that forecasters estimate has risen as high as the equivalent of 300 per cent of China's annual economic output.

"China is willing to accept slower growth, but only up to a point," Rory Green of TS Lombard said in a report. If job losses spike, "of course Beijing will have to step in with a major stimulus," Green said.

Project Leader of Youth Against Poverty 4.0, SCOT

Chai Rosli said, "There will be a lot of learning, sharing, developing and innovating to be expected out of this weekend."

This workshop is hoped to provide participants the exposure and insight of poverty and understand how to tackle a problem and provide a useful solution to create a social impact. With our partnership alongside Standard Chartered, ensuring young business owners creating impact isn't a far distant goal after all."

The programme targets young entrepreneurs (limited to 50 participants) to join the three-day workshops and forums with one day spent engaging youth from the Youth Development Centre.

Through the workshop, participants are able to formulate business ideas that is aimed to eradicate social issues and the winning ideas will be granted with BND10,000 as the first prize and BND5,000 for the second prize sponsored by Standard Chartered.

The final day for business pitching will be delivered to invited panel of judges on November 12.

Youth Against Poverty is the fourth installation of SCOT workshop that aims to educate youth to be aware of the existing social issues and empower the youth to form and plan entrepreneurial ideas to tackle social issues and build a social enterprise.

The Study Global Exhibition was held at the Radisson Hotel in Bandar Seri Begawan yesterday.

It provided a platform for students to find the correct career and study pathways.

Participating universities offered courses that Bruneians are looking for including sciences, engineering, medicine, health, business, finance, IT, law, art and design as well as interdisciplinary programmes such as geometrics, construction, design and technology, and creative industries.

The exhibition facilitated students, graduates and in-service personnel to have personal interactions with staff members of higher education institutions from different countries - to obtain information and make informed decision about the course and the university and align the options to personal interests and qualifications.

"Students tend to focus on course options and universities rather than the long-term career opportunities that the degree could lead to," said Maizura binti Bakar from HRDS Education Service, the organisers of the exhibition.

"They should think outside the box and think of careers that are unique so that they are not competing with others." Participating universities are accredited by the Brunei Darussalam National Accreditation Council.
